STIPULATION ON OVERLENGTH BRIEFING

Stipulation on Overlength Briefing
Disability Law Center of Alaska v. Meyer
Case No. 3:20-cv-173-JMK

The parties, by and through their counsel of record, hereby stipulate that all briefing related to Plaintiffs' Motion for Preliminary Injunction be allowed to exceed the page/word limit set forth in Local Rule 7.4(a)(2) for the reasons set forth below. The parties request that the court instead apply the page/word limits established under Local Rule 7.4(a)(1) for motions brought under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6), 12(c), and 56.

Good cause exists to grant this stipulated request. This Court permits motions brought under Rules 12(b), 12(c), and 56 to be up to 35 pages or 10,000 words, while other motions may not exceed 20 pages or 5,700 words. See Local Rule 7.4(a)(1). However, because the preliminary injunction standard requires discussion of the substantive merits of the claims, motions for a preliminary injunction generally contain substantive argument more like the argument in motions under Rule 12 or 56—that is, motions to dismiss or for summary judgment—than other, less substantive motions. See Local Rule 7.4(a)(2).

Plaintiffs' motion contains a detailed factual recitation as well as substantive legal argument regarding multiple claims under the U.S. and Alaska Constitutions and the Americans with Disabilities Act. It is thus not possible for Plaintiffs make a complete presentation of the factual and legal issues without proceeding under the rule that would apply if the motion were brought under Rule 12 or 56. This Court should thus exercise its discretion to permit both Plaintiffs and Defendants to file overlength briefs using the length limits in Local Rule 7.4(a)(1).

A proposed order is filed herewith.
